

THE CAPITOL WHIRL

A Digest of Things Political Occurring At Harrisburg

By International News Service

HARRISBURG, Aug. 18.—(INS)—The State Commerce Department is preparing a publication entitled "Community Action for Local Self-Development" based on achievements of Pennsylvania communities. . . . The booklet explains in detail how enterprising towns have improved business conditions, stimulated employment and undertaken public works through "self-development" or co-operative municipal programs. . . . Department officials said the record "is one of the most promising signs of our times. . . . It is proof that even in the midst of the greatest war of history Pennsylvania enterprise has been again at work on the community level to build a foundation on which the future progress of Pennsylvania may surely depend," they added.

State Sen. George Woodward (R) Philadelphia, prescribed as a cure for State Legislative ills "more pay and longer hours of work" for the General Assembly. . . . In his monthly publication "The Pennsylvania Legislator" he claimed "one reason our Federal Legislature is coming up in the world is because it has remained in session."

The House and Senate have just issued the final histories of legislation considered by the General Assembly. . . . A survey of the bills introduced disclosed that Rep. Thomas H. Lee (R) of Philadelphia, introduced more bills than any of his colleagues. . . . He introduced 46 of which nine were passed after he persuaded a Democrat to co-sponsor the bills while five others he piloted to Governor Martin's desk without aid. . . . Rep. Thomas J. Heatherington (D) Allegheny won the honors on the minority side. . . . He introduced 24 measures or four more than Minority Leader Hiram G. Andrews of Cambria. . . . The Senate crown was won by Sen. Wallace Gortley (D) Washington, who sponsored 70 bills of which only a few were approved. . . . Sen. John M. Walker (R) Allegheny, captured honors for the GOP with 60 measures but he succeeded in persuading the Governor to approve less than one-third.

The Pennsylvania Federation of Labor has acclaimed a new educational program established by its Machinists' branch at Newport. . . . In order to stimulate the interest of youngsters in labor problems they may face in the future, the union has sponsored an annual essay contest, awarding cash prizes for the best discourses of labor topics. . . . "Such a plan if generally adopted within the trade union movement, would have vast educational possibilities in promoting the cause of labor," said AFI officials. . . . It would be a public relations aid in communities large and small throughout the commonwealth.

Corn-Eating Contest Features Club Session

Another of the outdoor summer meetings of the Exchange Club was held at the home of Walter Pitonka Thursday evening when guests and members enjoyed a fine meal.

One of the highlights of the meeting was the annual corn-eating contest. Last year's champion, Roy Fry, retained his title by consuming 19 ears, although he was given keen competition by Burgess Jacob C. Schmidt.

Albert Dowden, who has spent some time in the West, was welcomed back by the members.

This week the 72-year-old ex-Bucks countian rode into Doylestown—not on a train or an automobile—but on a bicycle. And he didn't come from Warrington, where he once lived, but he was completing a 300-mile bike trip from his daughter's home in Riverside, Conn.

George W. Spencer, Sr., who died August 1, 1945, wanted his children living at his home in Doylestown township to dwell in peace and harmony. So to accomplish it, he specified in his will that "the children marrying must all agree to live in peace and harmony and the husband or wife causing trouble must vacate and not live with the other children."

The will states that the property must not be sold for taxes and that before that could occur, the children must give up living in the house and rent it until enough is obtained in that way to pay all the delinquent taxes.

Too many parents are all too ready to find fault with the schools, but they will not visit the schools to confer with the teachers and to see what is being done, declared Walter H. Introduced by Harry E. Huddle, Mr. Albright commented upon the importance of parents visiting the schools so they can learn what is taking place. Many difficulties, he intimated, may be settled if the parents take time to discuss them with the teachers.

JAPANESE SURRENDER EMISSARIES TO LEAVE JAPAN ON SUNDAY MORNING TO MEET MacARTHUR FOR NEGOTIATIONS

Departure of Planes from Shattered Tokyo Speeded by Peremptory Command of MacArthur, Directing the Flight Without Further Delay—Meticulous Details Contained in Message from Japan Regarding the Type of Planes, etc.

By Howard Handelman

I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

MANILA, Aug. 18.—(INS)—Tokyo flashed word to General Douglas MacArthur tonight that Emperor Hirohito's surrender emissaries would leave Japan at 7 a. m. Sunday (3 p. m. Saturday PWT).

The Mikado's representatives will take off from Kisarazu airdrome, southeast of Tokyo, "weather permitting," Japanese General Headquarters radioed MacArthur.

The Jap emissaries will fly in two planes which will be unarmed, painted white and marked with two green crosses as MacArthur directed.

Most meticulous details were contained in the message—the type of the planes, the altitude at which they will fly and when they will pass over Sata Misaki airdrome on southern Kyushu.

In his original instructions, MacArthur had specified Sata Misaki airdrome as the field from which the Japs should leave for Ie Shima, just west of Okinawa.

Three squadrons of P-38 Lightnings will pick-up the Jap planes after they pass Sata Misaki at 11

Tomorrow, Sunday, August 19th, has been named by President Truman as a day of prayer to God "To support and guide us into the paths of peace."

Residents of Bristol and Bucks County will join the nation tomorrow in the houses of worship, there to not only offer thanks for the victory that has come to the Allied nations, but to ask for guidance in the days to come, in order that a just and lasting peace might result.

The proclamation for a day of prayer, announced this week by President Truman, reads in part: "The warlords of Japan and the Japanese armed forces have surrendered unconditionally. Three months after victory in Europe, victory has come in the East.

"The cruel war of aggression which Japan started eight years ago to spread the forces of evil over the Pacific has resulted in her total defeat.

BENSALEM SCHOOLS TO OPEN FOR THE TERM ON SEPT. 5TH

Some Changes May Be Made in The Bus Runs, It is Announced

REGISTRATION ON 4TH

Several Members of Staff To Be Replaced, It is Announced

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Aug. 18.—The Bensalem Township Schools will open for a full school year on Wednesday, September 5th. Buses will operate on a schedule similar to last term. With the Bristol Township bus discontinuing its trip to Bensalem, an additional short run to Edgington may require advancing one of the bus schedules somewhat. Final decision in this matter will be announced on the first day of school.

Beginners will be registered in their respective buildings on Tuesday, September 4th from one to 3:30 p. m. This will afford an opportunity for the child to meet his teacher and see his room, while the teacher obtains information required for registering him and establishes contact with the parent. For this registration beginners will need to bring their birth certificate and vaccination certificate. Children who will be six by January 31, 1946, may be enrolled in the first grade. If their sixth birthday occurs on February 1st or later they will not be admitted until the following term. Exceptions will not be made.

High school pupils who attended other schools last year may also enroll on Tuesday, afternoon, Sept. 4th between one and 3:30. Birth certificate, vaccination certificate and promotion certificate or last year's report card are required for such registration.

The following teachers who were on last year's staff have since resigned their positions: Miss Elizabeth Donnelly, Trevoise; Mrs. Catherine Edwards, H. S.; Miss Meta Miller, Andalusia; Mr. Ernest Minka, H. S.; Mrs. Lena Minka, Andalusia; Mr. Ernest Minka, H. S.; Mrs. Lena Minka, Andalusia; Miss Sara Myers, Cornwells; and Miss Georgiana Staehle. New teachers and respective assignments will be listed later. The science and mathematics position at Trevoise and the mathematics and guidance position in the high school are vacant at this writing.

Grades will be housed as they were last year, except that a new third grade will be established at Trevoise grades one, two and three will have one room each respectively, and grades four, five and six will use two rooms. These changes are caused by climbing enrollment.

Action on the new school site still awaits disposition by the court. The attorneys for Ernest H. and Anna M. Buch have filed a petition to quash the condemnation proceedings filed last spring. The board of education is eager to have the action concluded as early as the attorneys and the court will agree on a date for decision, says a school spokesman.

George W. Spencer, Sr., who died August 1, 1945, wanted his children living at his home in Doylestown township to dwell in peace and harmony. So to accomplish it, he specified in his will that "the children marrying must all agree to live in peace and harmony and the husband or wife causing trouble must vacate and not live with the other children."

The will states that the property must not be sold for taxes and that before that could occur, the children must give up living in the house and rent it until enough is obtained in that way to pay all the delinquent taxes.

Too many parents are all too ready to find fault with the schools, but they will not visit the schools to confer with the teachers and to see what is being done, declared Walter H. Albright, Blooming Glen, a member of the faculty of Abington High School, as he spoke at the meeting of the Dublin Lions Club, this week.

Introduced by Harry E. Huddle, Mr. Albright commented upon the importance of parents visiting the schools so they can learn what is taking place. Many difficulties, he intimated, may be settled if the parents take time to discuss them with the teachers.

PREPARING FOR PROSPERITY

If 5,852,000 refrigerators, 5,085,000 radios, 5,195,000 electric fans and 5,835,000 washing machines were made available in this country tomorrow, they could be sold without any effort whatever. In addition, there is an immediate market for 3,451,000 sewing machines and 4,501,000 vacuum cleaners.

These figures, reached by the War Production Board after a survey of 4,500 families in forty states, show that prosperity is a real prospect and not an idle dream. When the demand for houses, automobiles, clothes, shoes and various minor articles of commerce is likewise taken into account, it is hard to escape the conclusion that there are years of steady labor ahead of American workmen.

There will be some temporary dislocation of the American economy until the country's industries, now geared to war production, can convert the factories and machines to peacetime purposes. But that it need not last long is indicated by the fact that the United States, after being afraid of the consequences of V-E Day, took the end of the European War in easy stride. It is not at all unlikely that the fears expressed with respect to what is ahead now will prove equally groundless.

America, for many months, has been moving gradually into peace. A start already has been made in the manufacture of many wanted commodities. With material and labor available, reconversion will gain momentum daily. There is no reason to believe that the transition will be anything but orderly.

ATOMIC LIMITATION SEEN

Edward Steidle, Pennsylvania State College scientist, says there is a limitation on atomic power because the world's supply of uranium is small. This should allay some of the fears that were generated by the atomic bombs that fell on Japan.

The entire supply of the type of uranium required for the atomic bombs is too small to furnish atomic power for more than a year or two, says Professor Steidle. While this wipes out the vision of an atomic age with the split atom supplying a new and revolutionary source of power dwarfing all previously known sources, it also dispels the gloomy vision of a world at the mercy of any mad ruler who would use the new bombs for the destruction of mankind.

If the only use that the atomic bomb ever will record is that which has just been accomplished—the ending of the war in the Pacific and the consequent saving of many lives—the $2,000,000,000 it has cost was well spent.

Nothing in history ever produced such quick results as Uncle Sam's up and atom war policy against Japan.

Motor car manufacturers, beginning to reconvert, are discovering that the saturation point has been desaturated.

Today's Quiet Moment

By Rev. Richard R. Gay
Pastor
Hulmeville Methodist Church

Oh God, we pause before the beginning of another day of worship and recreation spiritually and physically. Help us to ponder the significance of Sunday as the eternal reminder that the third day meant an empty tomb. Help us to realize that Sunday stands for the Living Christ, the victory over death and sin, the reminder of ultimate triumph of spirit over matter and goodness over evil.

Speak through the church school teachers, the ministers and the musicians. Send us out with courage to face a new week. In the Spirit of Christ we pray. Amen.

Tomorrow To Be A Day of Prayer in The Nation

"This is the end of the grandiose schemes of the dictatorships to enslave the peoples of the world, destroy their civilization, and institute a new era of darkness and degradation. This day is a new beginning in the history of freedom on this earth.

"Our global victory has come from the courage and stamina and spirit of free men and women united in determination to fight.

"It has come from the massive strength of arms and materials created by peace-loving peoples who knew that unless they won, decency in the world would end.

"It has come from millions of peaceful citizens all over the world—turned soldiers almost overnight—who showed a ruthless enemy that they were not afraid to fight and to die, and that they knew how to win.

"It has come with the help of God, who was with us in the early days of adversity and disaster, and who has now brought us to this glorious day of triumph.

"Let us give thanks to Him, and remember that we have now dedicated ourselves to follow in His ways to a lasting and just peace and to a better world.

"Now, therefore, I, Harry S. Truman, President of the United States of America, do hereby appoint Sunday, August 19, 1945, to be a day of prayer.

"I call upon the people of the United States, of all faiths, to unite in offering their thanks to God for the victory we have won, and in praying that He will support and guide us into the paths of peace. "I also call upon my countrymen to dedicate this day of prayer to the memory of those who have given their lives to make possible our victory."

Red Cross packages were given to us and they were just what we needed. The Red Cross also provided us with more clothing, which was so welcome as the weather was cold. Our blankets were thin, and we saved the seven lumps of coal allotted each day so we could fry the meat contained in the Red Cross packages."

SPORTSMEN'S BRIEFS

Deep sea fishing . . . The Rabino brothers were out of Beach Haven on Wednesday for a try at tuna but did not connect. They did, however, have a very successful day since their catch included 15 bonita, several albigore and 5 bluefish.

The "trigger squeeze." . . . A good marksman usually doesn't know the precise instant that he fires his gun at the target. This is not because there is anything hit or miss about his ability. To the contrary, it is because he "squeezes" the trigger of his gun so smoothly and steadily, according to Charles E. Gillham, noted hunter, outdoor writer and head of the Sportsmen's Information Department of Olin Industries, Inc., East Alton, Ill.

Experienced shooters never "pull" a trigger, says Gillham, because a pull frequently can produce enough jerk to move a gun's sights off the target and thus miss the bull's-eye.

After you have properly sighted in on the target the bullet should go dead-center if you release the trigger by a gradual squeeze. If you yank the trigger you immediately change your point of aim and the direction taken by the bullet.

Squeezing a trigger is as important in big game shooting, particularly on long shots, as it is on the rifle range. "Educate that all-important trigger finger to crook and squeeze slowly and steadily in coordination with your aim and you'll have game for your table in these meatless days," says Gillham who has shot game from the Arctic to the Tropics.

Smallmouth bass fishing. . . Although the water in the upper Delaware River was still three feet above normal the bass are beginning to hit in the Millford section, Ralph Ratcliffe, Charles Boyd and I fished that section last week-end when we caught eleven bass. Night crawlers proved to be the best bait.

decided to celebrate the defeat of Japan by taking an automobile ride.

Trooper Boiwka had no more than returned to his headquarters when he was called to investigate an accident which took place on the Bristol pike, about a mile west of Morrisville. The driver of the car was Richard W. P. Campbell, Radcliffe street, Bristol, who told the officer the blowing out of a tire was responsible for the accident, which resulted in the injury of three persons.

They were Dorothy Achilles, aged 23, of Phila, lacerations of the knees and nose; Marie Achilles, 22, shock, and Helen Rafkin, 31, Phila, lacerations. The injured were taken to Mercer Hospital, Trenton. The entire left side of the car was damaged. The driver and two other occupants, Elmer and Leslie Achilles, escaped injury.

An accident took place on the Lincoln Highway in the vicinity of Lincoln Point on Wednesday. The driver of the car was Clara Mianowski, aged 39, Phila, who told Trooper Boiwka she was enroute to Trenton to get something to eat. According to the investigating officer, the driver lost control of the car and it crashed into a pole with the result that its front end was demolished.

The injured, all of whom were taken to Nazareth Hospital were Estella Fisher, 19, contusions of the face; "Tony" Scandalus, 23, Phila, lacerations of the face and severe injury to an ankle, and Louis Rees, 43, Phila, lacerations of the face. Scandalus was the only one detained at the hospital. The driver of the car refused hospital treatment, according to Trooper Boiwka.

CAMPFIRE FISH FRY TAKES THE PLACE OF HAMBURGER ROASTS

By Mary Jacoby Fleetham,

Home Economics Representative. Fish fries may take the place of hamburger parties and steak roasts at campfire gatherings this summer. Every fisherman knows how delicious small, freshly caught fish can be when cooked in a frying pan over an open fire. But it is not necessary to be a fisherman to have this treat. Small whole fish, fillets and steaks, purchased at the market, may be used by picnic cooks, say experts of the Fish and Wildlife Service.

Fish may be prepared for cooking in the kitchen, then wrapped—each piece separately—in waxed paper, and packed in ice in the picnic basket to keep it cold until time for cooking. Line the basket with a thick layer of newspaper, then put in a layer of ice, then the wrapped fish. Put another layer of ice over the fish and cover it with more newspaper.

Take along a paper bag containing a well-sifted mixture of fine yellow cornmeal and white flour, half and half, and salt and pepper to taste. Also take a pancake turner or spatula to turn the fish, and a heavy, cast-metal frying pan.

A bed of hot coals provides the most even heat for frying, so build the fire long enough ahead to allow it to turn down to red embers. Heat the frying pan slowly and have in it about one-fourth inch of cooking fat. Have the fat hot but not smoking when the fish goes in.

Dip each piece of fish first in cold water, then in the flour mixture until it is thoroughly coated on all sides. Lay it in the hot fat in the pan. Watch the fire to keep the heat even and moderate. If the fat begins to smoke, remove the pan from the fire for a moment. When the fish is brown on one side, turn and brown on the other side. Serve immediately on picnic plates.

USE HONEY OR SYRUP IN PLACE OF SUGAR FOR JAMS AND JELLIES

By Mary Jacoby Fleetham,

Home Economics Representative. Even with sugar rationing, it's possible for homemakers to have a few jellies, jams, and preserves for next winter's meals.

Many jelly recipes call for three-fourths to one cup of sugar for each cup of fruit juice. However, a satisfactory jelly with more of the natural fruit flavor can be made with three-fourths cup of sugar to one cup of juice. Almost all jams and preserves can be made with three-fourths as much sugar as fruit by weight.

Honey or corn syrup may be used in jellies, jams, and preserves to replace part of the sugar. Best results are obtained if honey is used to replace up to one-half of the sugar by weight. In jams or jellies, up to one-fourth of the sugar can be replaced with an equal measure to corn syrup, and in preserves one-half the sugar can be replaced with an equal measure of corn syrup.

One secret in making jellies, jams, and preserves is to use a wide shallow kettle and to cook in small amounts, not more than 6 to 8 cups at a time. Cooking the mixture quickly helps hold the natural bright color and flavor of the fruit and cuts down on the loss of vitamin C.
